Dear Vince,

As I mentioned in my concluding remarks, your abilities to move people's hearts in song and in the spoken word is unquestionable. But just as strong is your love for others and your passionate desire to bring out the best in others so that they (we) can better receive the immense love that God has for us.

Our music ministries and other ministries have attended national and regional conferences where the liturgies and prayer experiences have been so powerful because of the power of music in those places. They come back so charged up, but it doesn't take long for that enthusiasm to die because of the lack of response on the part of the assembly. I have desired that the parish could experience how powerfully music can lift our hearts, minds and souls, if only we would let loose. Well your mission give our assembly a voice. And that voice "awakened our hearts." For once, the active participation of those in the assembly far outnumbered those who came with arms folded and mouths closed.

We will continue to build on that experience. I have a sense that all our ministries will be stronger because of the mission. That more will want to become involved in ministries. And that service to others will become a stronger priority. Our liturgies will become more vibrant and awaken the hearts of others who come unknowing of what may happen to them when they enter this assembly.

Thank you for sharing your gifts with us. Your passionate love for the Church is tremendous. Let us continue to pray for one another.

In the Sacred Heart of Jesus,

Rev. Steven C. LeBlanc
