Dear Vince and the Mission Team.

"Father, what are we going to do next year after a mission like this?" Those words, repeated by numerous parishoners, summarize the impact of this mission on a church.

"This is the first time there were more people at the end of the mission than at the beginning." I don't remember those words being said about previous experiences of parish missions.

As a pastor, the most refreshing dimension of Vince Ambrosetti's missions is that teens and children participate - the whole family can attend and grow close together. And his affirmation of the priesthood and of the ~~magisterium~~ magisterium is beautiful.

By way, my answer to the above question was to invite Vince back for his follow-up mission - the whole parish was grateful.

Sincerely,

Fr. Bill Parkam
